

Welcome recruit to:
Inter Planetary Defense Forces

(IPDF) REGISTERED MERCENARY COMPANY: A4CAECCAE4C2DCC6

You have been hired to defend the Outer Ring world of Mc Kenzie. The two planets in the system have been fighting for several hundred years now. They are not believed to realize their strategic importance as a launching post in monitoring nearby Rim worlds and exploring deeper into the edge. The Centaurian Exploration Guild and the Core Worlds League have hired the IPDF to help secure the world of Mc Kenzie. As you know there are two currently populated worlds in the system, but there is a third planet in the system that terraforming had been started on but it was not deemed worthy of supporting human life at that time. The third planet sits on opposite side of the sun and cannot be seen from either one of the two inhabited planets. Recently the Centaurians have discovered a way to repair the failed terraforming effort. They have been quietly seeding the planet with plants and animals in preparation for the coming action. You will be stationed on this planet and take up the post of securing the system. You are to leave the locals alone as long as their puny feud does not interrupt your primary mission. The first action you will take is to move onto the planet and scout ahead for a suitable place for a base. After a suitable base location is found you will report in with the location. The reinforcements will be arriving shortly after you to secure the location and assemble structures. You will be using the new vX9006 modular units in building your base. This will ensure a quick base construction but is a new technology and may suffer some problems, although the Centaurians assure us that there are none. Once the base is complete you will receive more orders.
